

Something for all professional negligence litigators with Temple's ATE cover

Temple has a strong and historic connection with the PNLA with members receiving preferential rates.

In addition, Temple now has three new ways to access ATE insurance cover for professional negligence cases.

Designed to speed-up and simplify the process so your clients get the protection they need with the minimum of fuss, still with fully deferred and contingent premiums at market-leading rates and backed by a UK based "A" rated insurer- these are as follows:

- Espresso - fully delegated authority, auto disbursement funding, for an agreed case volume.
- Concierge - bespoke underwriting, for cases with similar characteristics, faster response time
- Solo - suitable for more valuable and complex individual cases requiring additional scrutiny

We can offer a claimant pursuing a professional negligence claim insurance cover for the other side's costs and their own disbursements.

We also offer disbursement funding to claimants for court fees, expert reports and mediator fees. This helps unlock cases and puts a claimant in the position of being able to pursue their claim.

We can also fund and insure the fees of an Adjudicator undertaking a pre-issue adjudication of a professional negligence claim under the provisions of the Prof. Neg. Pre-Action Protocol.

Don't just take our word for it: "Having insurance support, both initially and especially when topped up as we faced 6 weeks of trial, meant we could fight on an equal basis with a very rich defendant and achieve an appropriate negotiated settlement."
Duncan Lamont - Charles Russell Speechlys
