Temple Funding and Temple Legal Protection

Temple Funding offers straightforward, affordable disbursement funding that gives litigants the freedom to pursue their claim without having to pay disbursements. Our facility also provides law firms with a solution to the significant cash flow burden that comes with funding litigation.

Temple Legal Protection is one of the country's leading underwriters of legal expenses insurance. We provide a wide range of ATE insurance solutions to law firms and brokers in order to help people reduce their financial risks in litigation.

Temple Funding Limited is a subsidiary of Temple Legal Protection.

Temple Legal Protection and Temple Funding are authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority.

What is disbursement funding?

Disbursement funding frees up cash flow and allows the client to pursue meritorious cases which otherwise may not proceed.

The varied nature of commercial disputes, the type of retainer and size of claim means that you need options within your litigation funding facility. Costly court fees and expensive experts' reports could amount to tens of thousands of pounds. Our facility provides your clients with a solution.

Disbursement funding can be the difference between the client pursuing the case or not. In addition, explaining it to your client could mean they engage your firm's services sooner due to their increased understanding of the costs involved and the role of disbursement funding and ATE insurance.

Temple disbursement funding can be used at the outset of litigation or later in the life of a case. It is combined with our market leading insurance to fully protect your client. It typically pays for disbursements incurred in the legal action, such as court fees, expert's reports and mediator's fees.

ATE Insurance and Funding for Commercial Disputes

Litigation Funding or Third Party Funding provides funding by way of a non-recourse loan to an individual or company to meet the legal fees and disbursements they will incur in pursuing a claim. The term “non-recourse” means that if the case is not successful, the funder will not look to the litigant to repay the funding. If the litigant is successful, they will pay a multiple of the amount advanced back to the funder at the conclusion of the case. Litigation funding can be expensive because of the risk the funder will recover nothing if the case they are funding is unsuccessful. Litigation funding will only work where the damages the litigant is seeking to recover will be significantly more than the amount of being funded. Temple is happy to insure a funded client’s case. Temple is not a “Third Party funder” and does not fund solicitor’s or counsel’s fees but will provide ATE insurance for many cases where those fees are funded. Disbursement funding is also available from Temple for cases insured by us that are Third Party funded.

Four options, one real solution

A brief look at disbursement funding options available to your clients

On balance sheet lending

The point of disbursement funding is to rid you client’s balance sheet and your own of any costs that can be passed on elsewhere. If an ATE provider is offering your firm on balance sheet lending there will be, more than likely, a cost for you, your client or both to pay.

Increased ATE insurance premiums

It may be that ATE premiums are inflated to access a particular facility, often at a higher rate than current interest rates in the market. With this type of arrangement, the amount of funds that are accessible are often not enough to fund the case to its conclusion and if they are the client ultimately pays a higher premium.

Tapered Administration Fees

Tapered Administration Fees are payable by your law firm at the end of a case and only upon a successful outcome. This puts a responsibility and commitment on the law firm.

Consumer Credit Agreements (CCAs)

Consumer Credit Agreements (CCA’s) is the solution Temple Funding offers. We work with many leading UK law firms who find the process both streamlined and straightforward. CCA’s come with many benefits for a client. It allows them to access funds they may not have been able to access previously. They also allow the deferment of repayment until case completion and only upon a successful outcome. What’s more, interest rates are rising, but the rates for Temple disbursement funding are not. You can check the potential cost of interest over the course of a case by going on to our website. The client can also do this and we will also pro-actively keep them informed directly of the current balance of interest throughout the duration of the case. If they wish to settle the balance of disbursement and capital before the successful completion of the case they can do so. The client is in control.

Case Study

Removing a burden from your client's balance sheet

This case study shows how disbursement funding from Temple Funding for a professional negligence claim removes a burden from your balance sheet and a barrier to enabling your client to pursue the case.

The information provided below in this example is based on a typical professional negligence case, where: -

- The client usually does not incur many disbursements pre-issue;
- Then incurs an issue fee of up to £10,000 depending on the level of quantum;
- Then may need to incur an expert fee at some level some time after issue;
- Then may incur a hearing fee of £1,090, and typically gets judgment in their favour up to 3 months after a final hearing.

Typically there would only be one drawdown fee since a solicitor would usually draw down all the monies needed in a single tranche.

Drawdown Number	Type	Drawdown Date	Settlement Date	Drawdown Amount	Drawdown Charge	Total Drawdown	Interest Charged @10.00%	Total Repayable

Testimonials

from customer law firms

With its user-friendly interface, swift approvals and payments and excellent customer service, the ease with which the Facility operates are truly remarkable.

Janine Collier - Tees Law

I have no hesitation in recommending Temple's disbursement funding facility to other law firms/clients

James Morris - Fenchurch Law

We were delighted when Temple introduced the disbursement funding loan. This means that our firm do not carry the disbursements and therefore does not interfere with our cash flow. It is simple to explain to our clients and enables them to have confidence that their expert's fees will be covered. The loan is easily managed by our team of solicitors; the support from Temple for them and therefore our clients throughout the life of the case is invaluable.

Mehmooda Duke (MBE) - Moosa - Duke Solicitors

It is extremely straightforward to use, the policy quite simply works and it is comforting for clients to have the option of disbursement funding in addition. All in all the whole thing is a bit of a 'no-brainer', especially for clients who are naturally concerned about the financial risks when undertaking litigation.
